A BEAUTIFUL CHARACTER.—Mrs. Swisshelm writes as follows to the Pittsburg Chronicle of the wife of the Secretary of State:

Mrs. Seward was one of the excellent of the earth, a woman of intellectual power and great breadth of attainment—the companion, confidant and counselor of her husband—one who read his written speeches before the printer saw them, and gave her opinion which he valued more than any other—one who read and digested long, tiresome documents, and gave him the substance in a few moments' fireside chat, thus contributing largely to that fund of information which distinguishes Mr. Seward. She was his "high law" adviser, and whenever his policy fell below that standard, he had differed with her in opinion. She ever regarded the right as the expedient; or in other words, aimed always to walk in the narrow path straight toward "the mark for the prize of the high calling which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord."

"WHAT!" exclaimed an attorney in amazement, as he paused in taking down instructions for a will from the mouth of a wealthy old skinflint, "you leave all this to your nephew? Why, he'll spend it in a twelvemonth." "Well," replied the old fellow, "I only hope he'll have as much pleasure in spending it as I have had in saving it."

"THAT's what I call capital punishment," as the boy said when his mother shut him up in the closet among the preserves.

Mormon Leprosy.

A letter received by a friend from a resident of one of the Western States, has been handed us for publication, and we publish an extract from it for the benefit of our readers, to whom it will furnish corroborative evidence of our oft repeated declaration, that Utah Mormonism is debasing in its tendency, and productive of an influence that corrupts and virulates its votaries, and begets a a callousness of mind and heart unsusceptible of the refined and elevating social influences that adorns good society everywhere. It must not be thought, however, that the following is an exceptional case, we know and could give the names of scores of parallel cases—some even much worse than the following. Polygamy and all its associations are necessarily debasing in their tendencies, and have invariably resulted in the destruction of correct morals and a proper regard for the female sex, wherever practiced. If single women cannot be found to minister to its lustful requirements, its advocates never hesitate to abduct the married. Hence we find in Utah scores of women to-day, married to other than their lawful husbands, for whom, still living in other lands, many of them daily pine.

The following is the extract referred to:

STATE OF ——, Oct. 14, 1865.

Dear Sir:

I will give you a brief statement of my case. In the year 18— I was sent on a mission, and on my return I left my wife and two children in San Bernadino, while I went to Missouri. I left my family in possession of property and with ample means to sustain them till my return. I had not been gone more than two weeks before the Brigamite Elders persuaded her to sell out the property and go with them to Great Salt Lake. Under the influence of the fanaticism that seized her she went, and though I have written repeatedly kind letters to her, I received no answer until about two years ago. She then wrote me a statement of her circumstances and the many obstacles she was persuaded to leave San Bernadino for Salt Lake at the time that Brigham called in the "Saints" from California, and on arrival in Utah, her means being all gone she was left to drift alone upon the world, and her every complaint of poverty was met with "Well, you must marry." She replied invariably that she had a husband living, but as I had not returned to Utah, and they suspected that I never should return, they told her that her engagement with me was valueless, as I could not save her, and she must be married to some man whose faithfulness was undoubted. Reduced labor such as she could do to support herself and her two children, she suffered much before she would yield her virtue to their lechery; but finally, the poverty and wretched squalidness of her children touched her mother's heart, and to spare her offsprings the pangs of starvation, she consented to become the wife of another man by the name of ——. By this unholy and adulterous connection she had two more children, when her seductive paramour took a second wife. The charms of my wife had then faded away, and she was left to scratch a living for herself and family as best she could.

In April last she again wrote and begged me to [illegible] daily her and send her money to get away from Utah, promising me, if I would do so, she would never forsake me again. I am poor, but by the blessing of God, I have been able to raise some $80. And now, dear sir, I appeal to you—in the name of mercy and suffering humanity—do not shut your ears to the cries of the widow and orphans (for they are as such, so far as my heart) but bring or send her and my children by some reliable party to me the ensuing season, and I will ever pray for ten thousand blessings on your head. Tell my dear wife I freely and fully exonerate her from any evil design in leaving for Utah, and though I cannot but grieve that she has been made the victim of saintly artifice, I yet deplore the sufferings she must have endured before one so good and virtuous as she has ever been, could have surrendered herself to the lecherous embraces of another than her husband. Her, I pity and love; but for the accursed system that has wrought her ruin, I have nothing but loathing and contempt.

THE MINERS AND MINES.—At the recent Colorado State Convention the following resolution was [illegible] Union platform. It contains a just principle, and should be adopted by the Government:

Resolved, That the pioneer miner who explores the country and finds the native deposits of precious metals, is entitled to the same, as the reward of his enterprise and daring, and that the General Government should give to the discoverer a title in fee to the same, at the minimum cost of survey.

INFORMATION from Arizona says that United States Marshall Dullard shot and killed a [illegible] Kennedy, at Tucson. The deceased had been in the Confederate army, and had [illegible] shocked him down and shot him.

Lord Palmerston, who had been seriously ill from the effects of a cold, for several days, died at half-past nine on the morning of the 18th. Business on the stock exchange and other quarters was suspended, and deep and universal regret was expressed by all parties at his loss. Earl Russell will probably succeed him. Lord Clarendon has taken the foreign office, but nothing official had transpired.

October 28.

E. D. Ketchum was arraigned in the Court of General Sessions, before Recorder Hoffman, to-day. He withdrew the plea of not guilty on the gold indictment, for forgery in the third degree, and put in a plea of guilty. It was agreed that his sentence be suspended till he can be examined in the civil case now before the courts.

Files by the steamer Africa have been received. In regard to the Adams and Russell correspondence, the London News says, it should not be forgotten that the claims made by Spain against the American Government, under similar circumstances, were only settled by treaty, while those made by Portugal furnished material for argument for over thirty years. If powers such as Spain and Portugal in these circumstances, feel themselves bound to keep up the discussion till they obtained some sort of settlement, it is not probable that the United States will follow a different course. Assuredly, Lord Russell's refusal to refer the matter now in dispute will not settle them with Morse and Smith.

The Times says, it is just possible to avoid the payment of the $200.000. The money we may lose; our opposition on the principle is so unmistakeable, as to cause us when the cases are reversed and when the Americans are neutrals and we the belligerents, to suffer terribly, in person, and pocket. We don't apprehend war, for war in these days could not arise out of this business; but something nearly as bad may arise in the future, when the practice we have defended may be turned against us in ways that are hideous even to surmise. The Star says, Russell is anxious to save the maritime powers from responsibility, for the injury which their subjects may have unadviseably caused to the belligerents, and has taken a very dangerous ground for maritime nations, when they may in turn be sufferers by such acts. Whatever view may be taken of the justice of the claims of the Alabama, we trust no British Statesman will fall into the blunder of placing our commerce at the mercy of desperadoes, who may issue from neutral ports during some of our future wars. Earl Russell deserves all credit for his industry in endeavoring to quiet the mouth of Mr. Adams, by quoting what his grandfather said and did fifty years ago; but at the same time, security to commerce in the present day is a subject greater importance to the people of England.

New York, Oct. 31.

The steamer Massachusetts, which has been [illegible] reports a tremendous gale on the 22d. Every vessel except the Massachusetts, went ashore in the harbor.

A number of the Fenian Senate continued their session to-day. The proceedings were secret, but it was reported that agents were to be sent to Ireland at once, to organize for the great revolution, which is believed will take a practical shape in a part of the time. It is also said the Fenians have received the endorsement of officials in this country, whose name will lend not only inspiration to the movement, but will be a guarantee of its success. Its said that efforts are being made to effect the release of John Mitchell, in order that he may take an active part in the approaching Celtic insurrection.

Its reported that Hampton Roads will soon be a rendezvous for a large and important fleet of our naval vessels. The steamers Vanderbilt and Monitor, which arrived there on Saturday, are the pioneers of this maritime gathering at this point. Its said the vessels are to be dispatched to squadrons in different parts of the world.

Washington, Oct. 31.

The Post's Washington special says, the President to day received advices that the Georgia State Convention had declared slavery abolished by a unanimous vote and without debate.

Further Point, Nov. 1.

The steamer Damascus from Liverpool has arrived. It is generally believed that Earl Russell will accept the Primiership.

New York, Nov. 1.

The Herald's letter, from Messilla, Mexico, the 13th, states that Juarez was then at El Paso, and that the French were on the way to that place.

The Matamoras correspondent of the Herald of the 25th ult, states, that an attack on Matamoras by the liberals, was commenced the Sunday previous. The fact of their being led upon the town in three lines of battle, led to the belief that they were Commanded by American officers, as they had never formed that way before.

New York, Nov. 2

The London Times of the 18th, says: "We are sure our Government may depend upon the support of the nation in maintaining the position it has taken up, and if the American Government is determined to seek a quarrel with us, we cannot have one in which our rights are clearer or more unquestionable. If it is not, we shall have saved ourselves by the firm stand we are now making from the great degredation, and vindicated for the benefit of all mankind, that a neutral position so seldom occupied by Great Britain in the wars of the past and so often we trust, to be hers in the wars of the future."

The Paris correspondence of the London Post, says, politicians of the money market and the public generally, read with great interest the published correspondence between the cabinets at Washington and London. Most men come to the conclusion that no rupture will grow out of the demands of the American Government, but think England will make compensation in some way, or other, for a portion of the damages done by Southern Cruisers; that's the French view of the existing difficulties.

Washington, Oct. 2.

The President has received a telegram from Herschel V. Johnson, dated at Milledgeville, Ga., Oct. 31st, saying all is going well. The convention passed the ordinance repealing the ordinance of session and all ordinances and resolutions subversive or antagonistic to the civil [illegible] United States [illegible] Georgia [illegible] of January [illegible]

Two la[illegible] Dant & U[illegible] Bo[illegible] ed on Tuesday morning. Loss $[illegible],000; insured for a small amount.

New York, Oct. 2.

The London Times says, augury is very difficult in the new Parliament, and complications exist that may tend to war and the [illegible] of negotiations. The administration has been called to constitute a new state of affairs.

The Daily News says, no liberal ministry is possible without Gladstone. Any peer can lead the Lords, but there is no question as to who should lead the Commons.

Lord Palmerston will be buried quietly and privately at Ramsey, on the 25th. The journals continue to lament his loss.

The Daily News also says, that the reported [illegible] from Seward, has dwindled to the statement that Seward has written to Bigelow, expressing the earnest desire that the Government will remain at peace, but intimitating that he feared that Congress would demand extreme measures, if additional troops were sent to Mexico. The Patrie says, Bigelow has obtained necessarily from reflections upon the French intervention in his review, but that it is unimportant, since that plan has been given up.

The Times thinks that, should Russell fail in forming a ministry—a union between the different sections of the Liberals, it will become necessary and that Lord Granville will probably be the person under whom the greatest number of men will serve.

Paris medical papers state that the cholera remains stationary.

Napoleon visited the Hotel Dieu, to satisfy himself that proper care was bestowed on the cholera patients.

Garibaldi has declined the nomination of the Italian Government, offered at Turin.

Washington, Nov. 3.

The following dispatch from the President to the Governor of Georgia, has been published.

Washington, Oct. 28, to H. V. Johnson, Provisional Governor of Georgia: The people of Georgia should not hesitate a single moment in repudiating every dollar of debt created to aid the rebellion against the Government of the United States. It will not do to levy and collect taxes from a State and people who are loyal and in the Union to pay debts created to aid in making war and subverting the Constitution of the United States. I do not believe the great mass of the people of Georgia, when left uninfluenced, will ever submit to the payment of a debt which was the main cause of bringing on them, past and present suffering, the result of the rebellion. Those who invested capital in this debt, must lose it and take it as one of the inevitable results of rebellion, though it may seem hard to them, it should be met at home and abroad, that no debt contracted for the purpose of dissolving the Union, can or will be paid by taxes levied on the people for such purposes. Signed

ANDREW JOHNSON.

New York, Nov. 3.

Dr. Burdell, of murderous fame, died on [illegible] or sixty cases, on board the steamer Atlanta.

[From the Gold Hill, Nev., News.]

Good! Go Again.

General Connor's late campaign against the Indians on Powder River was short and effective. He nicely cleaned them out. It is the first time such a thing could be said of operations against the red skins since Col. Chivington's charge on their camp at Sand Creek. We hope no cry of murder, massacre, cowardly attack, will be raised on this occasion. Unfortunately there is no danger of it. There always is when the red devils have been treated to their just deserts. However, we don't think the Government will be likely to interfere by committees of investigation very soon again. The would-be damaging report on the Sand Creek affair by the noble red man's admirers was not so damaging after all. Instead of making Col. Chivington a cold blooded fiend, in the opinions of Coloradoans, it rather made him popular; so much so that he thinks himself warranted in running as an independent candidate for Congress from the new State of Colorado. Every victory over the cold-blooded emigrant ambushers will make the soldier who obtains it popular. In this late sixty-five day's campaign of Gen. Connor's there were about 400 Indians put hors de combat, and the capture of 600 head of stock and entire destruction of a village of 200 lodges, with all the paraphernalia of Indian home life, made with a loss of only twelve men killed and fifteen wounded. We want a few more short campaigns. We've got to have them before the Overland road is safe for travelers or the Overland Telegraph free from interruption. We hope the General won't forget to go out on another ride. For what he has done the Western people will all unite in saying, "well done, good and faithful servant, in whom we are well pleased."

THE Black Hawk (Col.) Mining Journal says that extensive leads have been discovered in that State. The region in which these discoveries have been made extends from the head of Snake river, west of the range, northeasterly across the southern effluents of Vasquez Fork, and across the main South Clear creek, from one to six or seven miles below Black Hawk. Throughout the section indicated—a distance of say five miles in breadth and [illegible] in length—veins of rich argentiferous galena have been struck. Some assays have reached as high as $3,500 per ton—$800, perhaps, being the average.

GROWING THINNER.—An exchange having said that portions of the Yosemite's boiler were no thicker than a piece of felt, another paper copies the item and inserts "cassimere" instead of "felt." The next one publishing it will probably substitute "gossamer" for "cassimere."

THE Madison (Indiana) Courier says it has heard young ladies singing, "Who will care for mother now?" while their old mothers were wearing themselves out in the kitchen over the family wash-ing.

They have smaller funerals here than elsewhere can be seen in Christendom.(?)

It is rumored that that Gen. Dodge is coming on the plains again, to attend to Indian matters in person.

COL. POTTER, 5th Infantry, U.S. Vols., arrived at Camp Douglas, Monday evening.

RICH excitement in Colorado, this week, among the scores of candidates for Congress and the Governorship.

One of the first families of New York is in great distress at the marriage of their son with the cook.

The stage from the east, yesterday morning, brought express freight and a way mail from Denver. No passengers.

MESS. RANSCHOFF & Co. have had their doors closed for a couple of days past, opening and arranging their large assortments of new goods.

Companies L and M, 2d Cav., C. V., under command of Capt. Brown, left Fort Bridger for Camp Douglas, yesterday morning.

COL. POTTER, Lieut.-Colonel Johns and the officers of the 3rd Infantry, C. V., were serenaded, Monday night last, by the Camp Brass Band.

Men in Owyhee may go in their shirt sleeves, with "bottomless" pants, but no man is dressed unless he has at least one big six-shooter and a bowie knife.

A rich seam of quartz was struck near Silver City, Idaho, by the workmen who were digging a road from the New York Company's mine to the mill.

The laborers at Owyhee have resolved not to take "battery gold" at all, and clean creek gold (Jordan Creek) is to be current at $12 an ounce—and Boise at $14.

OFFICERS' UNIFORMS. See advertisement of Messrs. Barrow & Co., in another column. Their officers' suits have been made to order, in first class style.

It beats all to see the galaxies of gentile beauty and of Mormon fashion that ally cluster within Mansfield's Photographic Gallery, opposite the Salt Lake House.

STOCK IN SAN FRANCISCO.—Pease & Grimm's Weekly Stock Circular of Oct. 28th, says: "The stock market has been characterized by considerable activity this week, and with scarce an exception nearly all shares have shown some improvement."

WHAT NEXT?—The newest thing out is "plumpers" for hollow-cheeked damsels. The plumper is made of porcelain, pea shaped form, flat on one side, and bulging out on the other. They fit on the inside of the cheeks, giving a round, plump appearance; hence doubtless, their name.

To be more definite, that "last ball" referred to yesterday, was that given at Daft's Hall, a month or two ago. And, speaking about balls, we learn that this of the 17th inst. is to be a Grand Ball—not confined in its invitations to the Literary Association only.

DR. CONGER has got back from Pahranagat Lake Silver District, three or four hundred miles south-west of here—in Utah. He reports the mountain ledges there to be unquestionably rich in silver ore, and preparations making for great developments. So mote it be.

OUR merchants have their stores "chock full" of general merchandise this season, and all of 'em appear to be doing something. Should specify more particularly, were it not so that, if we noticed one, we would have to notice all, as nearly all of 'em are liberal advertising patrons. But review our columns, on all the pages, and you'll see it all yourself.

GOODS NOW IN DEMAND.—The attention of the trade and public generally is called to the new column of advertisement of Wilkinson and Fenn, wholesale jobbers of general merchandise, East Temple Street. By reference to their announcement, it will be seen that they have now in stock such articles as are greatly in demand these days.

Advices from Mexico, of the 20th ult., are received. Señor Chas. Delegate elect, has [illegible] visiting the people, and particularly the American portion of 'em, for his late election. Ben Stevens and two Mexicans, while travelling from Fort Wingate to Albuquerque, were attacked by twenty Navajoes and mortally wounded. The Apaches are leaving Arizona, in fear of Gen. Mason's troops, and locating in New Mexico. Trouble is anticipated in the latter territory, on this account. Capt. Joseph Rivers, 1st N. M. Cavalry, died at Fort Stanton, N. M., on the 13th ult.

THE Methodist Episcopal Church is making rapid advances in the south, and will [illegible] the negro-trading institution of hypocritical bazbarians known as "The Methodist Church South." At a camp-meeting in Tennessee over six hundred members were [illegible] nomination, and less numbers were added in various other districts.

THE APACHES.—These Indians live on fruits and roots during the summer, and hide in the mountains where they cannot be found. In winter they must build fires or freeze, and by this they may be discovered in their strongholds. They never fight openly, but wait until they get an advantage, and the first sign of their losing starts them to run. They are very skillful in their mode of warfare, and are treacherous and savage.

FLOUR has been offered here of late as low as $5 per hundred, for the greenbacks; indeed, a countryman the other day had a wagon load which he desired to turn into the ready cash—not goods in barter—and offered it at as low as $4.50. We know of a party who offered one of our merchants to let him have $10,000 worth of flour at $7 a hundred, delivered, 1st of April next, in exchange for $10,000 worth of store goods now. Coffee has advanced to 85 and 90cts. Soap and St. Louis matches are at present at high premium. No calculating on the changes of the Utah and Montana markets.

THAT pair of antiquities, the Keans, made a failure in Boston. They couldn't draw the second night, and the Traveller somewhat cruelly remarks: "The audience there had a better opportunity than the opening night offered to observe the glaring [illegible] that had made upon the once renowned Ellen Tree; while the studied, stereotyped mannerism of Mr. Kean, graceful and finished though it be, made the restless audience distrous of a momentary gleam of originality to relieve the monotony of the various scenes."

"ACROSS THE CONTINENT."—By a circular just received, we learn that the unequalled sketcher of our plains and mountains, men and mines, philosophical and personal, Samuel Bowles, Editor Springfield, Mass., Republican, is about to issue a volume containing complete his most interesting letters while traveling across the continent with the Colfax party. The book will make a volume of about 400 pages, including some additions and changes from the original letters, and an original paper on the Mining Interests of the Pacific States, by Wm. Ashburner, Esq., Mining Engineer of San Francisco, and Mineralogist to the California Geological Survey. Price, in flexible covers, is to be only $1.00, and in superior binding, $1,50; sent by by mail, postpaid, on receipt of the money.

No man ever traveled through the Far West, from the Missouri to the Golden State, Oregon and Vancouver, the putting all his traveling notes together, has given to the public such an interesting, useful, truthful, practical and philosophic treatise on the mines and matters, men and things throughout the West, as has this same Sam Bowles. Everybody in the West as well as in the East, will want the book to read for information, and to keep for reference. By the way, whoever wishes to take a model New England paper, "begotten of the ages and born out of the fulness of time," should subscribe for his Weekly Republican; terms only $2,50 a year

East Temple Street,

"Just as
From every shrub and flower she meets,
What from many a source we drew
We give, tho' not the whole as new."

Open my heart, thy ruddy valves—
t is thy master calls;
Let me go down and muse, trace
Thy labyrinthine halls.
Open, O heart! and let me view
The secrets of thy den;
Mysterious myriad row show
Of passions, sad to see;
Stir up thy brood that, in unrest,
Are ever piping keen.
Ah! what an empty multitude

"You do wrong to fish on Sunday," said a clergyman to a lad he saw so doing. "Well, sir," replied the boy, "it can't be much harm, for I ain't catched nothing."

The editor of a Chicago newspaper has declared in speaking of the filth of that city, that he had two hundred several and distinct smells, with three wards to hear from.

A Kansas man cannot pronounce "sheep." The word sounds "sheep" in his mouth. Seeing an ironclad, he said to a boy, "Is this a war sheep?" "No," answered the boy, "it is a ram."

"Come, go to bed, Eddie," said an anxious aunt: "you see the sun has set, and the little chickens all go to roost at that time." "Yes, aunty," said Eddie, "but the old hen goes with them."

During the examination of a witness in the locality of the stairs of a house, the counsel asked him:

"Which way did the stairs run?"

The witness who was a noted Wag, replied that—

"One way ran up stairs, but the other way ran down stairs."

The learned counsel winked his eyes, and then looked at the ceiling.
